MUSIC AND MUNCHIES

Who doesn't like good old gospel music and good food? Invite your friends and family to hear the Finchers Gospel Quartet (a love offering will be taken) and eat with us at our indoor picnic on July 28th starting at 5 p.m. Sandwiches, chips, fruit and veggies will be provided by our Sunday School Classes—cookies, brownies or desserts provided by those not in a SS Class. Fun and fellowship for all! Join us!

UMW NEWS

Your gifts to the Candle Burning Program help United Methodist Women support mission projects in so many ways and places. Among them is Camp Aldersgate in Little Rock, AR, that serves children and senior citizens with physical handicaps. Another is the Bethlehem Centers around the country that offer day care, nutrition programs, senior citizen services and sports activities in some of the poorest neighborhoods.

Each organization brings unique and vital aid to communities in need. By supporting the Candle Burning Program, you share in the UMW's passion to help a hurting world. You have until August 4th to give your gifts and information to Margaret Ann Ligon. A special bulletin insert will list all honorees on UMW Sunday in September.

UMM NEWS

The Memphis Conference Men's Gathering is Saturday, August 10, 9:45a to 2:15p, at Dyer First UMC, 189 N. Main St., Dyer TN. A light breakfast of coffee, donuts and fruit will be available at 9 a.m. Lunch is included in the $20 fee. Speakers for The Responsibilities of Christian Men in the Twenty First Century are Rev. Steve Fonville, Rev. David Hollis, Rev. Jason Jones and Eduardo Wells. For more information and to register, you may contact Charles Gilliland at charlesagilliland@gmail.com or by phone at 901-240-3356.

DISCIPLINE FOR DISCIPLES

Our Common Heritage as Christians

Many distinctively Protestant teachings were transmitted into United Methodist understandings through doctrinal formulation such as the Articles of Religion of the Church of England and the Heidelberg Catechism of the Reformed tradition.

Various doctrinal statements in the form of creeds, confessions of belief and articles of faith were officially adopted by churches as standards of Christian teaching. Notwithstanding their importance, these formal doctrinal standards by no means exhausted authoritative Christian teaching.

The standards themselves initially emerged from a much wider body of Christian thought and practice, and their fuller significance unfolded in the writings of the church's teachers. Some writings have proved simply to be dated benchmarks in the story of the church's continuing maturation.

By contrast, some sermons, treatises, liturgies and hymns have gained considerable practical authority in the life and thought of the church by virtue of their wide and continuing acceptance as faithful expositions of Christian teaching. Nonetheless, the basic measure of authenticity in doctrinal standards, whether formally established or received by tradition, has been their fidelity to the apostolic faith grounded in Scripture and evidenced in the life of the church through the centuries.

Volume 58 Issue 29

Brother Paul is getting a tune-up. We, like any other apparatus with working parts, occasionally break down and need mending. He has his own private nurse so we know he's being well looked after. Barbara will keep things heading in the right direction.

Though he is making progress, our favorite pastor will need some recovery time, so while he is mending, let us do for him one thing we are so very good at, pray. Prayer is a great healer of body, mind and spirit. Not only for the pray-ee but the pray-er as well. It soothes the soul and calms the mind, relaxes the body and gives us some 'me time' with our Lord and Savior.

Brother Paul is recovering and will be back among us soon. Until then we will 'pray without ceasing' and with gratitude for the shepherd of the flock called Aldersgate.
